TOEFL

The purpose of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is to evaluate the English proficiency of people whose native language is not English. The test was initially developed to measure the English proficiency of international students wishing to study at colleges and universities in the United States and Canada, and this continues to be its primary function.

However, a number of academic institutions in other countries, as well as certain independent organizations, agencies, and foreign governments, have also found the test scores useful. The TOEFL test is recommended for students at the eleventh-grade level or above.

The New Test Structure

| Test Section | Number of Questions | Timing |
|--------------|--|--------------------------|
| Reading | 3-5 passages, 12-14 questions each | 60-100 minutes |
| Listening | 4-6 lectures, 6 questions each | 60-90 minutes |
| Break | | 10 minutes |
| Speaking | 6 tasks: 2 independent and 4 integrated | 20 minutes |
